

ADMITS SETTING HOUSE FIRE

A fire which totally destroyed an abandoned home on Burnap Street, Monday evening, was set by a 14 year old boy, according to the Wilmington Police.

Chief Lynch stated Tuesday that he had a confession. The State Fire Marshall is to be called to examine the circumstances of the case.

The fire was visible for miles, starting about 6:30 pm, in a house at the 'far' end of Burnap Street.

IMMUNIZATION CLINICS PLANNED

The Board of Health is planning to conduct a series of monthly immunization clinics starting in December. These clinics will be held on the first Tuesday of each month from 9:30 am to 10:30 am in the Community Room at the Project for the Elderly in Deming Way.

Any child from the age of 3 months to school age is eligible to attend any of these clinics. Protection against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and poliomyelitis will be offered. Booster doses against these diseases will also be given, according to the Board of Health schedule.

The Board of Health feels that more complete protection at the proper age level can be given by holding a monthly clinic. This should enable every child in this community to receive proper protection either from their own private physician or at the clinic.

A child, 3 months of age or older, who has never received immunization against these diseases, should be taken to the Board of Health.

POLLS OPEN FROM 6 AM

TO 8 PM TUESDAY

361 Towns and Cities of Massachusetts hold election next Tuesday, as thousands of voters will go to the polls all over the Bay State.

Voters of Wilmington will vote in the High School gymnasium, between the hours of 6 am and 8 pm. There are 5667 Registered Voters in this town. Perhaps 50% of them will exercise their privileges to vote, and perhaps more.

The close contests, in the state wide election, will be for Governor, (John A. Volpe, Republican, vs Endicott Peabody, Democratic) and for US Representative, (Brad Morse, Republican vs Thomas Lane, Democratic).

In the State Senate match, veteran Jim Long of Woburn, Democratic, is being challenged by Ed Lombard of Stoneham, in the first real fight for this seat in some years. Long has the advantage, but is up against a fighting opponent who knows both city and town government, having held elective offices in both Melrose and Stoneham, and a man who is highly regarded. If Long wins this fight he will really hold solidly the district.

The four-way fight for State Representative will prove of interest and possibly give the voters of Wilmington, Woburn, Reading and No. Reading some close moments.

Two veterans are facing two newcomers. Frank Tanner of Reading, Republican, and Tom Donahue of Woburn, Democratic, are fighting to retain their seats against the challenges of Ken Latham of Reading, Republican, and John Berlandi of Woburn.

Tanner, one of the more substantial legislators, has held his seat for 12 years, and Donahue has had his for six, proving to be a very popular vote getter.

Latham is favored in Reading, where he has been both a Selectman and Moderator. Berlandi, a well known contractor of Woburn, is not as well known, but may pull a surprising vote from his home city which could alter the situation.

CIVIL DEFENSE SURVEY OF TOWN

The first in a series of meetings by Town Officials, Civil Defense authorities, clergy and others, held Tuesday night, was in the cellar of the Town Hall. About 20 persons were present.

The meeting was called by Chairman John Brooks of the Board of Selectmen.

The meeting arrived at no definite conclusion, but was summarized by Brooks as 'This is the beginning'.

The next meeting is to be next Wednesday at 8 pm., in the Town Hall, and, while not a public meeting, persons who wish to take part in Civil Defense operations will be welcome.

GIRL SCOUTS WILL BE BABY SITTING FOR VOTERS

Senior Girl Scout Troop 108 will provide Baby Sitters, from 2 pm to 5 pm next Tuesday, for voters who wish to take advantage of this service. Call Mrs. Roger Williams, 8-4005, for a Free Baby Sitter.

PULLED THE ALARM

Garg Cugini, an 18 year old youth, believed to live in Lowell, called the Wilmington Fire Dept. at midnight Oct. 28th by pulling the alarm box near the Town Hall.

When the fire trucks arrived he was found lying on the ground in a fainting condition, and suffering from pain. He was taken to the St. John's Hospital in Lowell, where he is on the road to recovery.

TOWN NAMED IN $500,000 LAW SUIT

An attachment has been served on the Town of Wilmington by the firm of Cargiulo, Hoban & Tiffany, of Cambridge, as a part of a $500,000 law suit, the aftermath of the death of a two year old youngster, in early October.

Named as principals in the lawsuit are Vincent Anomanisto of Ballardvale Street, a taxi driver, and the owner of the taxi, Joseph Bales-trieri of Railroad Avenue.

The suit is by Sydney E Graves of Washington Avenue, Administrator of the estate of the child, Maureen Graves, who was reported in some newspapers to have been killed in an accident involving a taxi.

Town Counsel Philip Buzzell will appear in Cambridge Court next Monday, in the town's interest. One well placed official of the town stated yesterday that the town "admits of no liability" and that there is no credibility of any damages being assigned against the town.

A jury trial has been requested by the Plaintiff.

MEL ZAR GETS $11,500

Temporary Town Manager Harold E. Melzar, Monday night, told the Board of Selectmen that he was not expecting a salary, and that he had never drawn a cent in pay or expenses in all his service to the town.

The Selectmen unanimously voted to pay him at the rate of $11,500 a year, with Selectman Black adding that he expected this to be until 'after next March, at least'.

CHAPTER 90 ROAD WIDTHS

Some readers will recall that a former Town Manager of Wilmington insisted, again and again that the County would not allow any street to be built with a width of less than 60 feet.

It was during the Ballardville Street controversy.

Of interest in this account is a controversy now going on in Burlington, where some of the residents want a Chapter 90 street to be forty feet wide.

The County is asking for a width of fifty feet.

QUESTION NO. 1

Question No. 1, on the ballots next Tuesday, seems as though it is a simple reform of the tax structure.

But it isn't. Instead it gives the Legislature power to tinker with the tax structure as it pleases.

Thinking citizens will vote NO.

CHAPTER 121 OF THE GENERAL LAWS

The Board of Selectmen, Monday night, spent over an hour looking over a mapping job done by the principal Assessor, which showed town owned and tax title land within the town.

The Selectmen are interested in getting some of this land back into private ownership, so that taxes will be paid, etc etc.

One of the worst areas is the so-called Section D of the Woburn City Land and Development Plan, a plan that goes back into the 1880s and involves land near the railroad and near Eames Street.

Older residents will remember that past Principal Assessor Frank Walters did a wonderful job of clearing up one section of this land
- where National Polychemicals is now located.
Walters spent a lot of time, during two years,
chasing down old land titles and ownerships,
and it paid off.

In Section D a firm was interested enough, a few years ago, to put its own lawyers onto the job of trying to clear up the titles.

The firm gave up, although the land obviously is valuable.

It is zoned industrially. It is adjacent to a railroad. If the titles could be cleared up the town would have no trouble selling the land

And the titles can be cleared today, in a manner unheard of a few years ago.

The Commonwealth has adopted its own laws,

(sort of an urban-Renewal law) for clearing up titles in land such as this. It comes under the heading of Chapter 121, of the General Laws.

It is to be realized that our Selectmen do not look kindly on Urban Renewal proposals, because of the unhappy experiences of a few years ago.

But here is a case that just fits the law, and which the town could utilize easily, to its benefit, - with the state paying half the bill!

If a firm thought enough of the land a few years ago to try to clear the title to the various lots, it is still just as valuable land today - and offers a good program for the town.

LIKE FALLING OFF A LOG

There has been some speculation as to what will happen next Tuesday, in Haverhill, where, among other things, an increase in pay is on the ballot for the City manager.

The increase will voted, decisively.

For some years now there has been a fairly low grade pay scale for the lesser employees of that city.

Any request for an increase has been met with the argument that they cannot be paid more than their superior officers are receiving.

It is to be expected that all the friends and relatives of the City employees will get out and vote yes, for the pay raise - not that they are worrying about what the City manager will get, but that they want one themselves.

ADVANCE SALE OF TICKETS FOR LYNNFIELD GAME

Wilmington faces its third undefeated opponent of the year

on the Wilmington
High School football field.

Lynnfield, which is a Class D team (Wilmington is Class C) has had no defeats since the last time
it faced Wilmington a year ago.

The game has stirred up a tremendous enthusiasm in the two towns.
In addition to the battle between the two teams it will be a battle between the two bands, as both High Schools have outstanding High School bands.

The game is to be broadcast over WLYN, 1360 Kilocycles.

Wilmington High School has announced that, because of the expected crowds, there will be an advance
sale of tickets, at the High School, starting today, during school hours. The sale will be for both adults and youngsters.

MORNING COFFEE FOR FOSTER MOTHERS

Mrs. Almon Ramsdell of 148
Wildwood St. is to have a morning
coffee at her home on Tuesday, Nov. 6 for Foster Mothers in the surrounding Tewksbury, Billerica, Wilmington area.

Sponsored by three Red Feather agencies, Boston Children's Service Association, Church Home Society, and Children's Mission to Children, Mrs. Ramsdell expects a sizable group of Foster Mothers who board infants and adolescents in their homes for varying periods of time.

Gathering together locally for the first time on November 6, they will discuss topics of mutual interest to them in the care of their foster children under the guidance of Mrs.
Elaine Kohn, social worker at the Boston Children's Service Assn.

TOWN NOTES

2 Minutes Late

Esther Russell, Town Clerk, will probably never forget the first day that Harold E Melzar was Temporary Town Manager of Wilmington.

Melzar was in the Town Hall well before 8:30 am last Thursday, his first day in office. He was prepared to be sworn in at 8:30 am sharp.
Mrs Russell, the Town Clerk, is generally the soul of promptness, but on This Morning she had to be
2 minutes late.

Of course the first thing she saw was Melzar, watch in hand.

"You," he said, "Are Two Minutes Late."

But Harold isn't as gruff as he sounds.

Weedy Dinner

There are, in Wilmington and in Reading, two families. Both are named John E Weed.

Occasionally their mail is mixed up, and occasionally there are other mixups.

So the two families got together,
last week, for dinner - they are not related in any way. There were 17 Weeds at that dinner, just to get to know one another!

No Gentleman

The Wilmington Centre Pharmacy
has acquired a full sized 'dummy'
of a football player, wearing a Wilmington uniform, to go with the current Football Fever in Wilmington. It is quite lifelike.

Very proud of his dummy friend,
Mel Woodside, the druggist, stood it near the center of the floor, until a little old lady happened to drop something near Friend Dummy.

She evidently wasn't wearing her glasses, because she started to lecture the dummy for not being a gentleman - a big strong husky boy should pick up things, etc etc.

Mel has moved the dummy - over to the safety of the display window where little old ladies, and young ladies too, may admire from the safety of the sidewalk.

Carrier Pigeon, Maybe?

It has been several months now
since the Wilmington Fire Department and the Wilmington Police Department shared the same wave length on their radios. The law was changed, by the Federal Government, and as in other towns and cities, neither can talk with the other over the air.

The Gendarmes are sometimes embarrassed as a result. Sometimes there is a nice juicy fire going on somewhere, and no one knows anything about it!

TOWN NOTES (Cont'd fr. pg. 2)

Back in '27.

Last week the Town Crier related how the Wilmington Wildcats had defeated the Chelmsford Lions. It was quite a tale, and up until a few days before the game it was our and everyone's belief that the Lions had never been defeated by Wilmington.

But the Town Crier and others were wrong. Back in 1927 the Wilmington High School Squad defeated Chelmsford by a score of 6 to 0, and the writer was one of the players (left guard, he thinks).

In those days Wilmington High School had a better Cadet Corps than Football Team. The Cadet Corps boasted 40 rifles (vintage of 1870), and the Football Team 11 players, with no substitutes.

The outstanding player, as we recall it, was Don Woodside, who not only was the WHS Star (and only) Fullback, but was a good pitcher on our 10 or 11 man baseball team, but was also the track star, being especially good in the running broad jump.

But that was 35 years ago, and is almost ancient history.

Back Further

The story has been told before, but the site of the new office of Louie's Oil is where one of the most weird stories in Wilmington originated, back about 1898.

Alanson Jacquith, who lived in the red house on the corner of Main Street and Clark Street, committed suicide in a combination barn and blacksmith shop that was located right where Louie's new office is today. He hung himself, by stepping off the stairs that led to the hayloft, with a rope around his neck.

Before he died, some people averred, he went in to a Boston bank and drew out $5000 in greenbacks, which money was never found. There were plenty of people who looked for it, in fact the barn was torn down in the search--but there were others who never believed it, including the late Charles V. Blaisdell, who lived in the neighborhood as a youngster, and remembered 'Lanse' Jacquith well.

Charlie said there was nothing to the story, but if you choose to believe it you might try going down and digging up the new hot-topped surface in front of Louie's office. Maybe no one will object.

High Score?

Joe Hennigan bowled 177 a week ago, in the Wilmington Bowladrome, which is a nice high score on which to hang a hat. On the same night he and Ed Harrison both tied in the 7th box at 119--till Joe went and made it 177, while Ed only made 144. Their team triple that night was 561.

There is to be an opening in a league, next Monday night, if anyone is interested.

HB Jackie Bowen set a new record in the Lowell Suburban Conference for touchdowns scored in one game - five. He also established a new record for touchdowns in a season - fifteen.

Jackie was named the Boston Traveler Star of the Week, giving Wilmington this honor for the second week in succession, Allard having been last week's star.

Jackie also set the current Eastern Mass. scoring record, 104 points in conference games, and 116 overall, for the season.

Wilmington now leads, in Eastern Mass. in undefeated games, and on victories, with 16 games undefeated, and 10 games in the victory class.

Wilmington, in the Lowell Suburban Conference, is the leading team for points scored in a season (180), and has tied the record for touchdowns in a game (eight), and consecutive victories (seven).

Another record was set by HB Frankie McLaughlin-one of his own private records, when he successfully made two touchdowns without having the referees drop the red flag, because of some other player being offside. It was Frankie's first and second TD of the season.

Frankie romped over the goal-line on the third play of the first quarter, from the 26 yard line, after Bowen had brought the ball to that point in two plays.

North Andover's Don Morse proved to be a fine broken field runner, and junior QB Harry Wilkinson was one of the best players on the field, but the No. Andover line seemed to balk when it came to tackling Jackie. Wilkinson scored one of the touchdowns and another for a conversion.

Bowen scored five of the Wilmington TDs, McLaughlin two and Frank Perdicaro one.

It was in the second quarter that

Wilmington began to romp, when Bowen went down the right side line for 49 yards, shaking off three successive defenders who tackled him. He was finally thrown out of bounds at the 12 yard line, but he scored two plays later from the five.

Two quick scores followed, with Bowen making an outstanding 77 yard run for a TD, followed a few moments later by a 46 yard jaunt by Frank Perdicaro, for another TD.

Don Morse, of the Scarlet Knights, in a fine exhibition of broken field running, ran 30 yards through the Wilmington team to be tackled finally on the 21 yard line. Wilkinson completed that play with a pass to Murphy, for North Andover's second TD, bringing the score to 24-16.

Bowen came back with a 40 yard run for his third TD, and for the conversion it was a pass from Allard to Dave Babine, leaving Wilmington 32, No. Andover 16 at half time.

In the early part of the second half Allard pulled his only keeper of the game, one which ended in a fumble and was recovered by North Andover. A 40 yard pass, Wilkinson to Morse, scored another touchdown for North Andover, and Ramsden of North Andover added in the conversion, making the score 32-24.

Bowen came right back, after the kick-off, to make yardage in two plays, followed by another scamper of 31 yards by McLaughlin, for his second touchdown of the game.

In the fourth period it was Bowen again, scampering up the side line for 25 yards. He dropped the ball at the end of the first ten yards, turned around, ran back two yards, picked it up, and continued for 15 yards more before he was brought down. It was almost like basketball. His fifth TD run followed, a 32 yard run, setting the new record

AREA PUBLIC WORKS
PROGRAMS TO BE

ACCELERATED--MORSE

Congressman Brad Morse has been informed by Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges that a conference on the accelerated Public Works Program for the Lowell Area will be held in early December.

Earlier this month Morse had requested Hodges to set such meeting to fully inform officials in suburban towns as to the benefits that might be available and the methods to be followed in applying for this.

Officials of many smaller communities were unable to attend a two day meeting held in Washington earlier in the month, and Morse told Commerce that a conference held in the Lowell area would be of untold advantage to the towns.

Commerce told Morse that while it is having staffing difficulties because of the newness of the program, William Batt, area administrator, of the Area Redevelopment Administration, would work with Morse in planning the area meeting, tentatively scheduled for the first week in December.

When you hear the word Ironing what do you see in your mind? If you see an overflowing ironing basket or an aching back, you'll want to come to the 'Make Ironing Easy' demonstration on Tuesday morning Nov. 6 at ten o'clock am at the American Legion Hall in Wilmington. Tuesday's meeting is the second in the 'Opportunities Unlimited' series to which Wilmington homemakers are invited to learn about the Home Economics Program of the Middlesex County Extension Service. The 'Make Ironing Easy' will be presented by Mrs. Anna C. Carey, County Extension Agent in Home Economics.

According to Mrs. Carey, ironing can be made easier if one is willing to study the job and has the desire to change present ironing patterns. Changing habits is not easy but in order to make ironing easier, some change will be needed.

Ironing is more than just one process. Personal standards and values, fabrics, and construction of the garment, ironing equipment, laundering methods and time pressures--all these factors will be discussed at the 'Make Ironing Easy' demonstration and a recent Extension Service publication on the subject will be made available to those who attend.

Tuesday's meeting for homemakers is open to the public without charge.

LETTER

Dear Larz:

What is happening in this town in Library service? Has anyone noticed how crowded the little library is? Is it not true that legal negotiations for the dilapidated wooden church building may take not one year but many years? Is it worth waiting for--this non-fireproof building which needs propping up on the bottom, plugging up on the top, wiring and painting all over--this 60 year old building which will need continuous repair all the time it is in use? Is the 'rent-free' Middlesex County National Bank land still available? Or is it 'deed-free', and is there any difference? Would the bank ever take the land back once the town had put a building on it, and still want to do business in this town? Of course not! Do the Board of Library Trustees and the citizens of the town know that a new fire-proof no-frills library building could be built for approximately $90,000--a building to fill our present needs? And isn't it wiser to build a $90,000 building now with an addition planned in ten years, than to pour money after money into an old building and at the end of ten years still have to erect a $200,000 new library building?

For all children who like to read and who want to learn to read, and for all adults who do, isn't one good library building equal in importance to the need for two new schools? Does not the town look a little unbalanced being so good in one educational facility and so poor in the other educational facility?

Sincerely,
Evelyn M. Norton
